To see the golden sun, the azure sky, the outstretched ocean; to walk upon the green earth, and be lord of a thousand creatures; to look down yawning precipies or over distant sunny vales; to see the world spread out under one's feet on a map; to bring the stars near; to view the smallest insects through a microscope; to read history and consider the revolutions of empire and the successions of generations; to hear of the glory of Tyre, of Sidon, of Babylon, and of Susa, and to say all these were before me and are now nothing; to say I exist in such a point of time, and in such a point of space; to be a spectator and a part of its every-moving scene; to witness the change of seasons, of spring and autumn, of winter and summer; to feel hot and cold, pleasure and pain, beauty and deformity, right and wrong; to be sensible to the accidents of Nature; to consider the mighty world of eye and ear; to listen to the stock-dove's notes amid the forest deep; to journey over moor and mountain; to hear the midnight sainted choir; to visit lighted halls, or the cathedral's gloom, or sit in crowded theatres and see life itself mocked; to study the works of art and refine the sense of beauty to agony; to worship fame, and to dream of immortality; to look upon the Vatican, and to read Shakespeare; to gather up wisdom of the ancients, and to pry into the future; to listen to the trumpet of war, the shout of victory, to question history as to movements of the human heart; to seek for truth; to plead the cause of humanity; to overlook the world as if time and nature poured their treasures at our feet — to be and to do all this, and then in a moment to be nothing — to have snatched from us as a juggler's trick, or a phantasmagoria! . . .

It is thus, that, while we find our personal and substantial identity vanishing from us, we strive to gain a reflected and vicarious one in our thoughts: we do not like to perish wholly, and wish to bequeath our names at least, to posterity. William Hazlitt

FRESHMEN '82

Most freshman classes wallow under the reputation of not knowing where they are, where they're going, how to get there and perhaps even who they might be: The freshman class defies this tradition (WE ARE DIFFERENT).

Our class has definitely lit a spark and left an impression, good or bad.

Along with the educational advantages VI has to offer, it also gives a person the opportunity to grow emotionally and socially. Many of us are striving or at least seeking a final goal. Hopefully a good majority of our classmates have gained new, helpful insights and find themselves closer to attaining whatever dreams they have.

"Have you paid your class dues yet?"

"No, I thought I'd wait until Friday."

"Don't pay on Friday — you're gonna need that money for the weekend."

"Why? What's going on this weekend?"

"Our soph. class, is sponsoring the Christmas Dance, remember?"

"Oh yeah!" "But I don't have tickets yet."

"Remember, you owe 75¢ for that raffle our soph. class had."

"What raffle? I don't remember any raffle."

"Yes you do. Remember back in Oct. when we had a raffle for two Chicago concert tickets? And you told a class officer you'd pay her back later for the ticket since you had just spent your last dime on hot cider at the Marty Bear concert."

"Oh yeah! I remember now! So I owe 75¢ for the raffle ticket which lost, by the way, and $2.50 for my class dues, and $6.50 for the Christmas dance, if I can get a date. Right?!"

"Yeah — that's right . . ."

"What?! When did I borrow money from my roommate?"

"Yesterday, stupid! You asked her if you could borrow some money to cover your class dues and a coke and candy bar from the student center."

"Oh that's right! Well I got the coke and the candy bar, but I never did pay class dues. I've still got the money, so I guess I'll pay it on Friday."

"Don't pay it Friday!! Save it for the weekend."

"This year's junior class is one of the most cooperative ones this year. We were given the assignment of a dance about a month before it was supposed to take place."

"Hectic as it was, working from scratch, we pulled off a very successful dance!"

"We changed vice-presidents and judicial representatives half way through the year, but our spirit still lived!"

"We never had the time to do anything, always on the go — we made our work pleasurable by working together."

The Class of '79 — a group of individuals? Yes, but also a team that pulled together on important issues: Graduation; Senior Weekend; and Toga Parties. This year's senior class not only contained leaders in diverse areas, but people who contributed creativity, imagination and inspiration to every project they undertook. We've had a lot of good times on the way to an education. Cheers to us — the Senior of 1979!

These two pages we dedicate to you, Dr. "T."

With the ending of another school year, Dr. Floyd V. Turner's 28-year term as president of Virginia Intermont College ends.

Turner announced plans for resignation early last year; effective June 30, 1979. He served the second longest term in VI's history. How Dr. Turner felt about life, VI, and His peers? can best be told by his own REFLECTIONS over the past few years: . . . Times change, buildings change, the church and all institutions change, even philosophies change; however, the attitude of the individual toward himself remains as the main determinant of his moral code. (1972) . . . Virginia

Intermont will be not stronger — no better than those of us who are here. In this institution will be reflected our personal motivations. (1975) . . . Our lives are a composite of the relationships we have had. It is the duty of the individual to learn and to grow in such a way that interpretations of the past become positive — not negative; that they become beautiful — not ugly. (1973) . . . What are we really about? I read again just the other day, the following statement: "All the action is to get through the jungle to a place of beauty." This, to me, is what we are about. It has been said that when a small person casts a shadow, the sun is setting. Let us all stand tall. (1978)

Dr. and Mrs. "T.", we, the class of 1979 wish you the best.

Floyd V. Turner

"When one has spent twenty-three years at Virginia Intermont and then decides that a "change of pace" is in order; life tends to become a blending of the past with the present. The frustrations seem to fade and the times when I couldn't do the things which needed to be done are still of concern but are no longer personal in nature.

There is an awareness of beauty as evidenced by two children who have grown and matured; a grandchild who has become an integral part of life; and a wife who has continued always to be a gracious partner in all areas of living. This awareness is made even more vivid by the thoughts of those personal relationships which through the years I have enjoyed. I know now that I have been given much more than I have given.

The temptation to spend time in nostalgic reminiscing is quickly put behind me. The past is of value only as it reveals the future. The excitement of living lies ahead and I will be a part of it."

Starting with an almost entirely new staff each year, the Intermont strives for the creation of a unique and outstanding annual. Deadlines were pressure times with copy and headlines to write, layouts to design and photographs to develop. But even through all this the yearbook seemed to get finished and recorded for posterity the year 1978-79.

LITERARY MAGAZINE

The Literary Magazine is an annual spring publication which combines student poetry, short stories, art work and photography. Its main purpose was to form a pleasing end product which reflected campus talent.

ART CLUB

The art club provided an opportunity for art students as well as others to work together. Their main goal was raising money through art sales in order to sponsor an annual art trip.

CHOIR

Dr. Allen Goodwin was director for the V.I. choir this year, while Mrs. Frieda Griffin served as accompanist. The 32 member choir performed major Christmas and Spring concerts.

DAY STUDENT CLUB

To keep the day students involved in on campus activities a Day Student Club was organized, Brenda Tolbert successfully headed the meetings which took place in their lounge .

CARDINAL KEY SORORITY

Co-chairman (Top) Cindy Hutchens (Bottom) Tena Eddy

Cardinal Key Honor Sorority is a national leadership and service organization. Membership is open to juniors and seniors who have a 3.0 or better G.P.A. and have leadership qualities. The project for Cardinal Key this year was raising money for Juvenile Diabetes. In addition, they ushered at Convocation, gave tours to prospective students, prepared a food basket for a needy family, helped the Bristol Girl's Club, gave a tea for Alumni Cardinal Key members, and held their traditional "Anything Goes".

"Faith, trust, fortitude, and wisdom, I shall exercise them, faithfully that my service may be genuine, my life complete."

Cardinal Key motto

ALUMNA AWARD

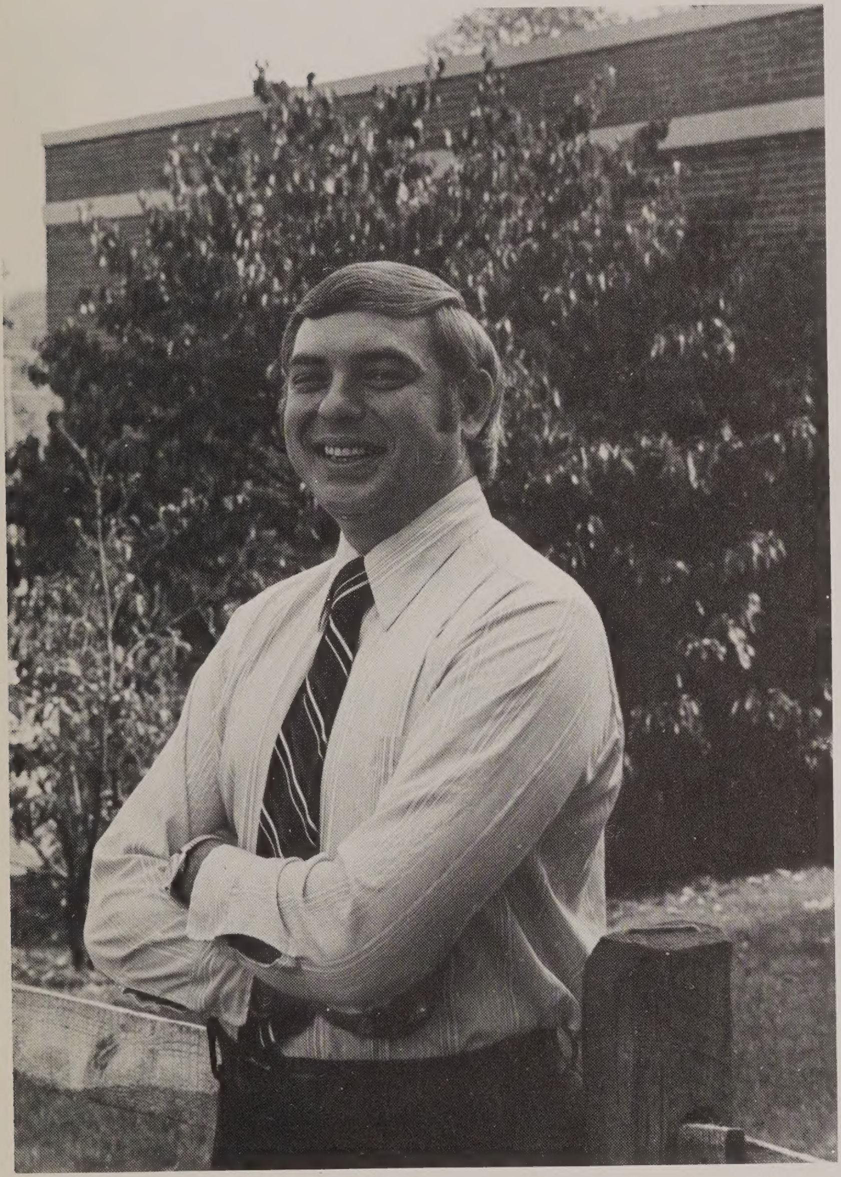
Martha Rigell Anderson
Kingsport, Tenn.
Business Management/Senior

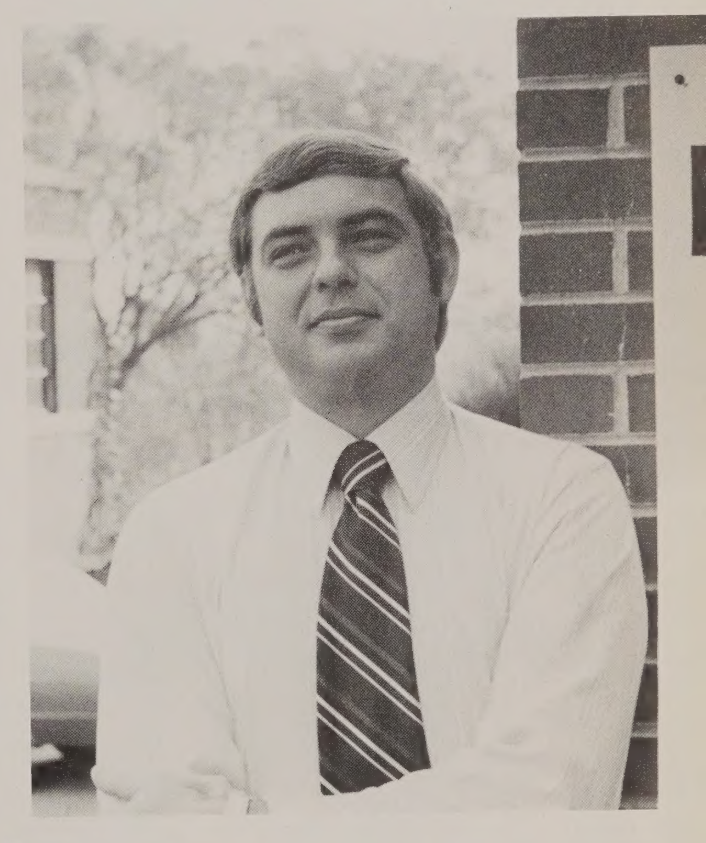
The Virginia Intermont College Alumni Association annually makes an award to a student who is selected by the committee from nominees chosen through student elections. Marty is considered to be outstanding in academic, spiritual, social, personal characteristics, and the contributions that she has made to Virginia Intermont in the past four years.

OUTSTANDING FACULTY

1978 AWARD 1979

The outstanding faculty award is annually presented by the Cauldron, Virginia Intermont's newspaper. To be eligible for the award, the faculty member must be in his or her second year of teaching at the college. Martin Hamilton, this year possessed a good teaching rapport among his students, he showed knowledge and enthusiasm for teaching in his field of education, and was accessible to fellow faculty, students, and administration.





Dr. Martin Hamilton

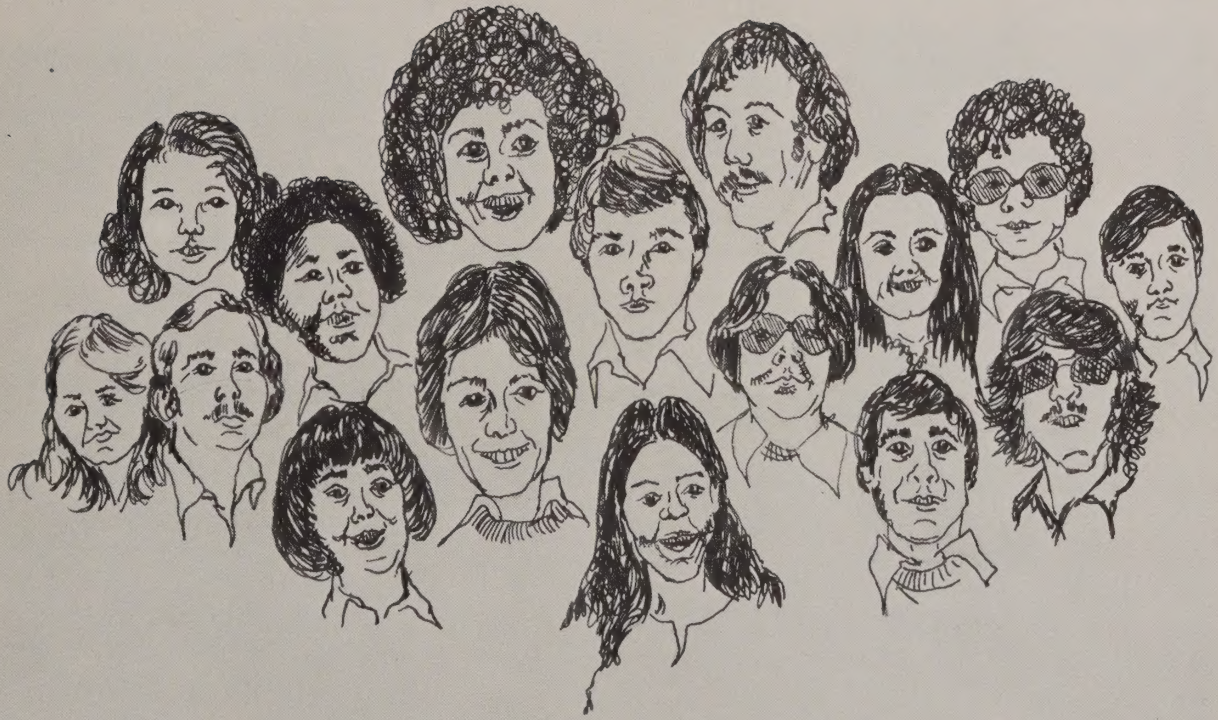
Junior

Dr. Floyd Turner, president of the college, chose the Apple Blossom Princess on the basis of beauty and poise. Burke represented Virginia Intermont in the Court of the Queen of the Apple Blossom Festival, held annually in Winchester, Virginia.

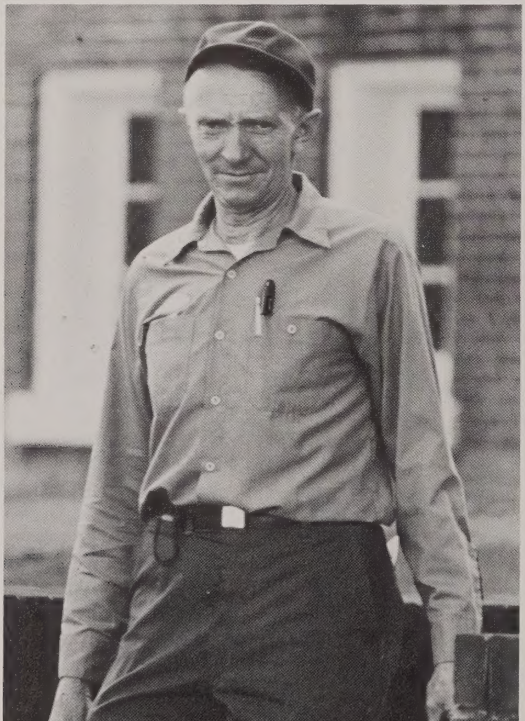
WHO'S WHO

The 16 students from Virginia Intermont College who were selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders in regards to academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential were: Marty Anderson, Seva Anthony, Dawn Barnhart, Barry Bowe, Gay Campbell, Tena Eddy, P. T. Ford, Craig Gaither, Deborah Hincher, Ann Horlebein, David Mick, Sue Moucha, Kent Roberts, Janet Schmidt, Larry Surber, and Steve Walburn. These 16 join an elite group of students selected from over 1,000 universities and colleges in the 50 states, District of Columbia and several foreign nations.



With the help of audio visual aids, Jo Calsetta studied.

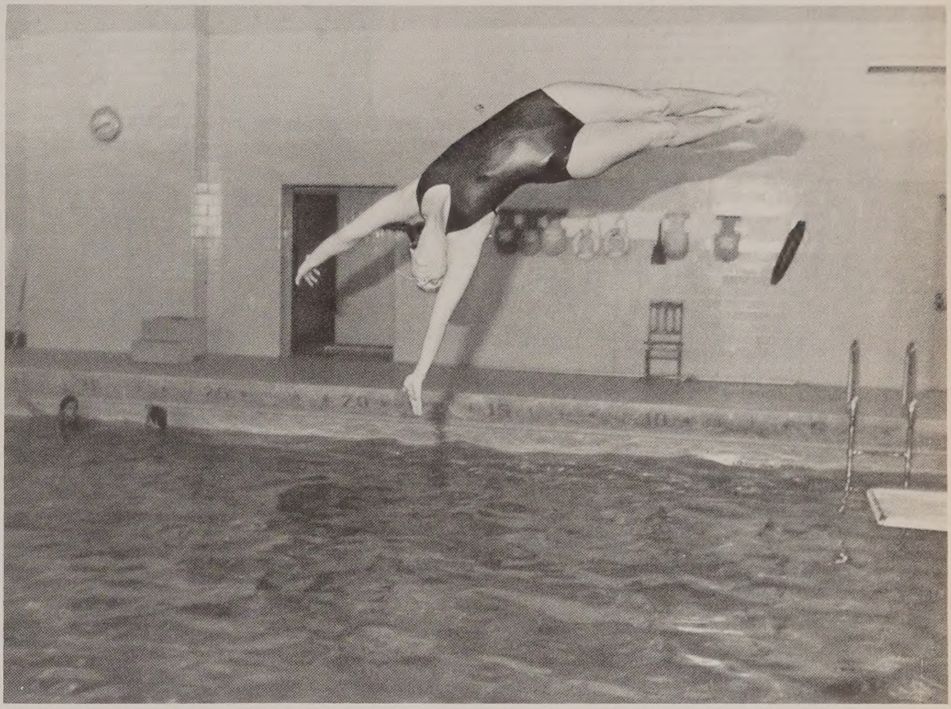
Self defense and karate gave Terry Bialas and Clarlie Zerman a source of exercise.



Maintenance man, Stanley, rushes to the aide of a needy building.

Lynne Watkins centered in on the bull's eye.

Fall weather produced a relaxing atmosphere for Lisa Clarke.



Bonnie Hird gracefully executed a dive.

The ballet studio was the setting for many hard practice sessions.

"We raised ONE-HUNDRED AND TWO DOLLARS" for The March of Dimes, plus got to meet Don Craig of "Days of Our Lives" — alias Jed Allen.

VOLLEYBALL

The volleyball team had its share of ups and downs this season. In the state tournament in Lynchburg they came back with a 4-4 record, making their total record for the year 16-16. Through all their defeats and victories the players played the game the best they could.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

The 1978-79 basketball team brought together a group of very diverse individuals. They traveled to area colleges to compete with other teams. Through all of their wins and losses they maintained themselves as a team, with good sportsmanship.

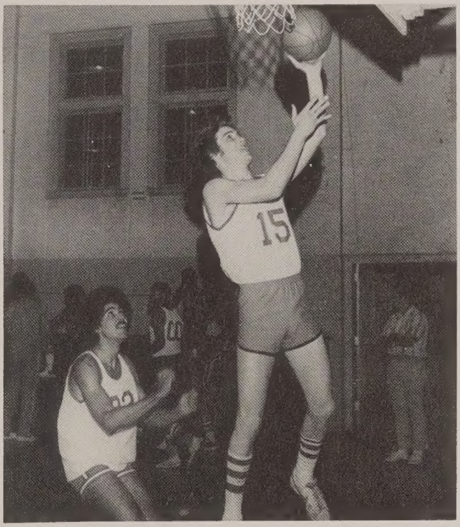
MEN'S BASKETBALL

V.I. was represented by a new group, the men's basketball team this year. The team participated in the Bristol park and recreation league. Although most times outmanned and always out coached, the team performed admirably. The last game of the season brought them their first victory and hope of many more in the years to come.



Making a basket isn't easy!

HORSEMANSHIP

Marianne Stanner shows her style during the hack class on Rococco.

One of the major events in the horsemanship department, the hunter trials provided exciting competition for riders. The trials gave horse and rider an opportunity to perform before spectators, and further develop their showing ability.

A moment of silence as the winners were announced.

Senior Marianne Woolf rode her horse "Chico" to Reserve Grand Champion at the October Hunter Trials.

"Once Again" ridden by Ruth Waller put on a good performance at the trials.

INTRAMURALS

According to vice-president of A.A., Burke Michael, "Intramurals are for the enjoyment of all. If you cannot play a sport, so what? You will not be laughed at or cut-down if you are not a super player. Just think, you might even learn something and make some new friends in the process."

REUNION

It will be hard to tell which spinster is Ann Alford, which balding, fudge-gut father is Charles Summerford, the quarterback whose passes sailed out of the end zone into the back cottage of Simpson's Travel Rest. And where is Sandy McMillan, so brilliant in Mrs. Ida Laughton's History of Philosophy her wildest guesses were truer than our answers? Where are Patsy Galliano and Susan Weintraub? When did that mirrow splinter that would show our true faces, our eyes flaring like acetylene the morning after the senior dance. Remember Dr. Franklin Bartram, whose punctual hack midway through the final exam blacked-out seventy-four years of the eighteenth century. He fell, far from here, in Tucson or Albuquerque.

We would not tell him it was Sam Maisel who disassembled his volkswagen to assemble it again on the roof of the Chemistry Building. We would not say what happened to every girl, how the gland's weather moved through dream spreading debris that tempered each afternoon, but search for our own lost profiles stacked one atop the others, like cardboard boxes in an abandoned warehouse. Nor would we return to that brief year wedged among all the others when the snow fell listlessly from the hedges and the quadrangle was an essay written by footsteps.

But would come together once, to talk or listen, compare in fire or water our wounds.

Here's to you, VI!
Thanks for 4 years of good times,
sad times, and friends now gone.
"Laud and Praise I sing to thee—
This daughter adores thee"—

THANK YOU MOM
& DAD FOR ALWAYS BEING THERE. THANK YOU RICK FOR THE
SPECIAL TIMES. THANKS TO ALL MY FRIENDS
WHOM I'VE MEET AND THOSE I'M ABOUT TO DAWN

Alias -
Cindy Hutcher

Thank you
Maintenance for making my Senior year so warm
and cozy!!
alias "pissy Mace"

I got by with a little help from my friends!
Thanks to everyone for sharing the good times, & helping through the not-so-good times! We made it - with NO EXCUSES! Remember - it takes two to toga ... or whatever!
Sue Suddith (Sue #1)
(alias "Bubbles", good friend of "Brillo" & accomplice to Sue #2 in the famous Bush Raid! The damn thing died!)
SPECIAL Thanks to AL, Meg & Vernon!
(and especially Mom & Dad!)

P.S. - The "A" in JAMES A was AMOS - SO THERE!

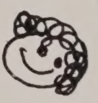
As four years of college come to a close, I realize how important and special all my friends have been. Perhaps our paths will never cross again, but you all will be cherished in my memories. May joy and good fortune be with each of you always.
H. Craig Gaither
P.S.: Watch out for those "Whiskey Plates".

Best Wishes
"Mom" Fleenor

Despite the idiocy of SGA, Agenda, and the persons who voted for the HONOR code, we made it through 4 years.
Jena + Lisa

Thanx Mom, Dad for helping me and Al get thru'.
Jena



FAREWELL V.I.
(and all those sleepless nights I spent in the photo lab!)
No more CRITIQUES!
YIPPEE!!
A special good-bye to all those crazy people on 3rd-Intermont Airlines (You all know what I mean!) Thanks for everything Mom & DAD -
B.J. Manuel

TO THE CLASS OF '79:
- MAY WE MEET AGAIN
- JANICE

Byrd

With love to my friends, my parents, and V.I. for making the last two years of my life the best for the rest of it. I will never forget any of you, especially my "bosom", Craig. May you all find the true happiness you so deeply deserve.
With humble adoration!
~~[illegible]~~ Wallburn

To the "whole gang" on 3rd Intermont: Chink, Grumby, Goo; Alvin; Eunice; Space Queen and Space Eggs & wish the best throughout life in whatever they do. You all will always be remembered with all the memories we all share from 3 years!!
Love you

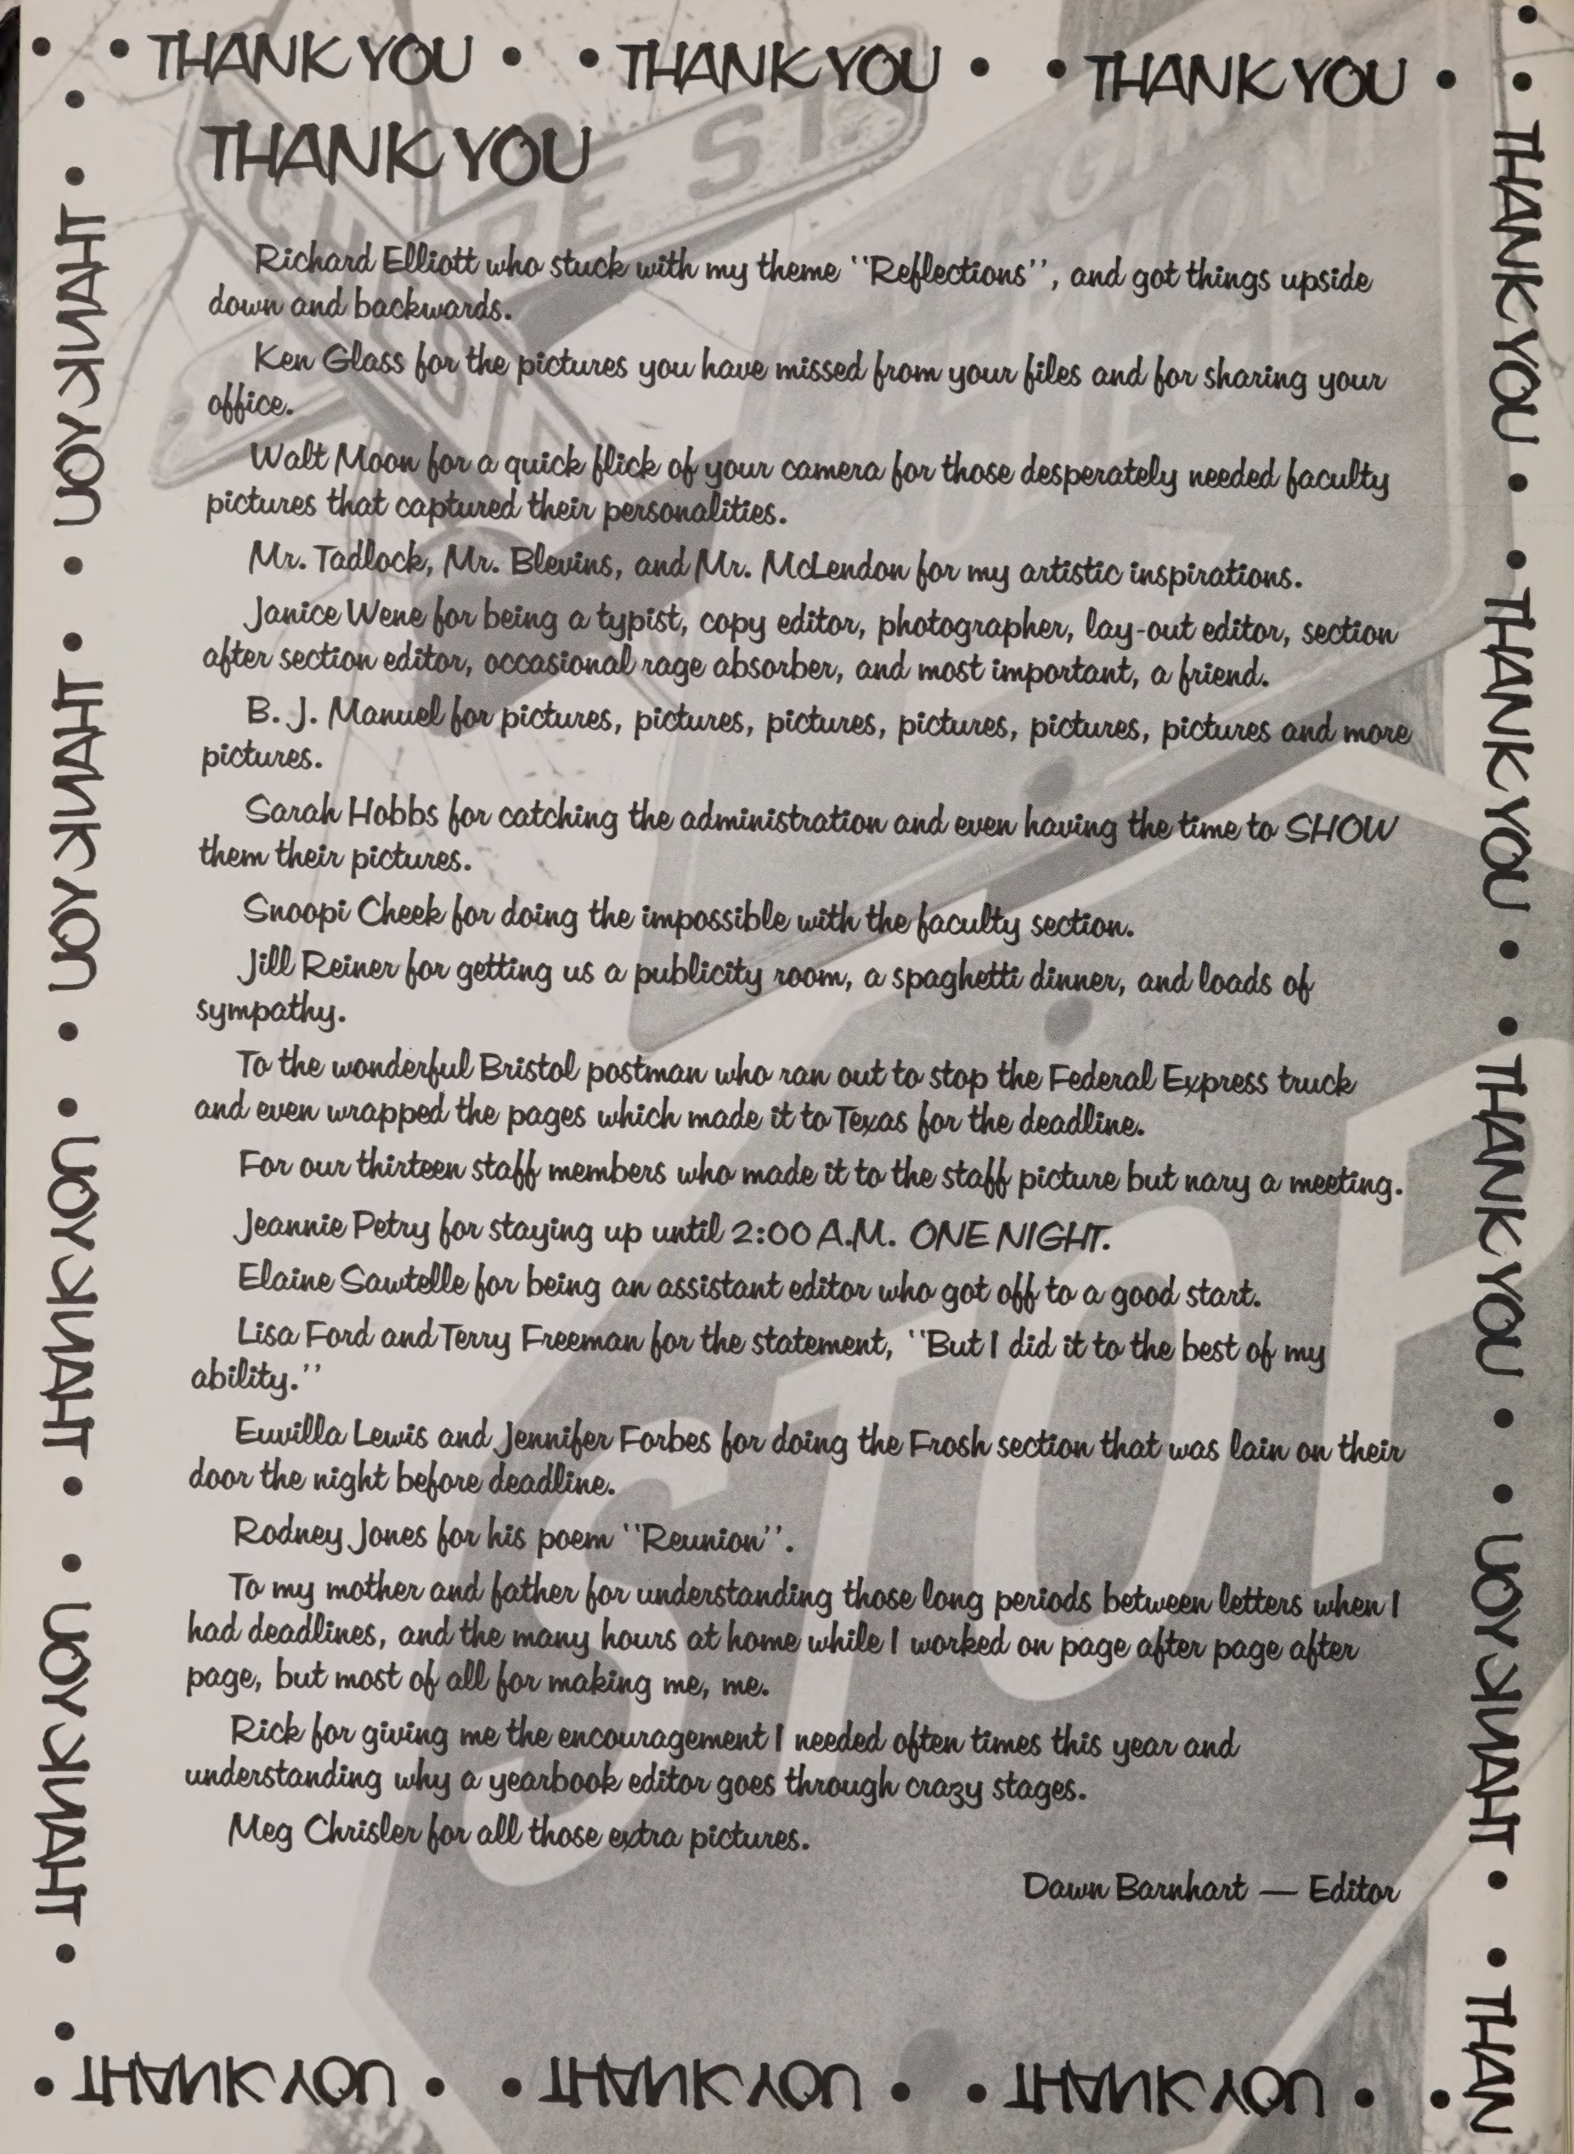
THANK YOU



Richard Elliott who stuck with my theme "Reflections", and got things upside down and backwards.

Ken Glass for the pictures you have missed from your files and for sharing your office.

Walt Moon for a quick flick of your camera for those desperately needed faculty pictures that captured their personalities.

Mr. Tadlock, Mr. Blevins, and Mr. McLendon for my artistic inspirations.

Janice Wene for being a typist, copy editor, photographer, lay-out editor, section after section editor, occasional rage absorber, and most important, a friend.

B. J. Manuel for pictures, pictures, pictures, pictures, pictures, pictures and more pictures.

Sarah Hobbs for catching the administration and even having the time to SHOW them their pictures.

Snoopi Cheek for doing the impossible with the faculty section.

Jill Reiner for getting us a publicity room, a spaghetti dinner, and loads of sympathy.

To the wonderful Bristol postman who ran out to stop the Federal Express truck and even wrapped the pages which made it to Texas for the deadline.

For our thirteen staff members who made it to the staff picture but nary a meeting.

Jeannie Petry for staying up until 2:00 A.M. ONE NIGHT.

Elaine Sawtelle for being an assistant editor who got off to a good start.

Lisa Ford and Terry Freeman for the statement, "But I did it to the best of my ability."

Ewilla Lewis and Jennifer Forbes for doing the Frosh section that was lain on their door the night before deadline.

Rodney Jones for his poem "Reunion".

To my mother and father for understanding those long periods between letters when I had deadlines, and the many hours at home while I worked on page after page after page, but most of all for making me, me.

Rick for giving me the encouragement I needed often times this year and understanding why a yearbook editor goes through crazy stages.

Meg Chrisler for all those extra pictures.
